4  a  At low tide they provide cover for foot soldiers moving across the beach.
    b  Soldiers use it for cover to avoid the machine-gun and rifle fire coming from the cliffs.
    c  Soldiers use them for cover on the beach (Miller, for example, with Delancey). They are also a source of extra weapons for the surviving soldiers.
    d  They are used to blow holes in the wire on top of the sea wall and to explode any mines in the ground near them. e  It shows Miller and his men a safe exit from the beach through the mines.
    f  Miller sticks a mirror to the tip of his rifle with some gum so that he can see what is over the walls of a trench.
